TP Cares

Community service is often viewed as helping those in need, but through our experiences, we have come to understand that it goes far beyond that.

"To us, community service is about building genuine connections, understanding the needs of others, and working alongside communities rather than simply providing assistance."

It is not a one-sided act of giving, but a shared effort towards creating meaningful change.

BERNICE CHEE XIN YEE (IIT)
& SITI NUR SORFINA ADAWIYAH BINTE MUHAMED ASHIQ (HSS)
Students
Project Chey

SEEDS OF GOOD

TP Cares

One common misconception about volunteering is that people need extensive experience, specialised skills, or a significant amount of time before they can make a meaningful contribution

"To anyone considering volunteering but unsure where to start, our advice is simple: start small. Every act of kindness matters, no matter how insignificant it may seem. Through volunteering, you not only make a positive difference in the lives of others, but also gain valuable lessons that shape your own perspectives and values."

Sometimes, all it takes for someone to feel seen is your presence, your time, and your compassion.

SCAN ME

SEEDS OF GOOD