PCEO Lunch with SYLP Participants & P4 Clubs student leaders (15/7/26 & 4/8/26)

Selected student leaders from the Temasek LEAD Programme, Singapore Young Leaders Programme (SYLP) and P4 Clubs had the privilege of joining our Principal & CEO, Mr Patrice Choong, for an intimate Top Table lunch. The session provided a valuable platform for open and meaningful conversations, where students shared their leadership journeys, aspirations and perspectives on student life at Temasek Polytechnic.

Discussions also touched on contemporary topics such as the responsible use of AI in teaching and learning, as well as ways to strengthen student engagement through CCAs and club activities. Through this candid exchange of ideas and perspectives, students were encouraged to continue leading with purpose and contribute towards building a stronger, more connected and inclusive TP community.

SG Youth Forum (25/7/26)

Student Reflection – Kyden Wang Kai Feng, Year 2 ASC LEAD student

"Attending the SG Youth Forum and learning about the SG Youth Plan showed me how our generation can turn our concerns into meaningful action. Seeing the Government commit $20 million to support youth-led projects reinforced that our ideas are valued and can create real impact. The forum inspired me to step forward with greater confidence, connect with like-minded peers, and play a more active role in contributing to my community. It reminded me that every positive change begins with individuals who are willing to take the first step."

SG Perspectives (28/7/26)

Close to 100 LEAD students participated in an engaging SG Perspectives dialogue at the Black Box Theatre, featuring Dr Janil Puthucheary, Senior Minister of State for the Ministry of Education and the Ministry of Sustainability and the Environment, and Chairman of OnePeople.sg. The session explored the importance of fostering social cohesion through open and respectful conversations on race and religion.

Students actively exchanged perspectives, reflected on contemporary issues, and learnt practical approaches to navigating sensitive discussions with empathy, respect, and confidence. The dialogue served as a timely reminder that building an inclusive and harmonious society begins with listening to one another, appreciating diverse viewpoints, and engaging in meaningful conversations.

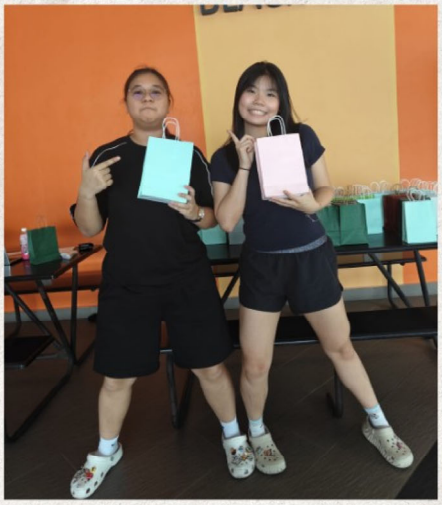

[LA Fireside Chat Series] Service Leadership in Customer-Centric Industries (30/7/26)

Close to 50 TP students gained practical insights into hospitality, customer-centricity and leadership at the LEAD Fireside Chat with industry professionals from The Ritz-Carlton, Millenia Singapore, including two TP alumni. Through an engaging dialogue, students explored service excellence, workplace expectations and how a customer-centric mindset can be applied across industries, while connecting with industry practitioners and alumni to broaden their perspectives and strengthen their leadership and interpersonal skills.

LA Jiayousss (12/8/26 - 14/8/26)

To support LEAD students during the examination period, LEAD Ambassadors distributed 300 care packages as part of its student well-being initiative. Packed with encouragement and a little boost of cheer, the initiative aimed to lift students' spirits, promote well-being and strengthen their sense of belonging within the LEAD community.

All the best for your exams, and we wish you every success in achieving the results you are working towards!
