SG Perspectives 2025 (03/11/25)

The final SG Perspectives session of the year was held at the Black Box Theatre and featured Mr Desmond Tan, Senior Minister of State and Deputy Secretary-General of NTUC. He shared valuable insights on how students can build career resilience in a fast-changing economy, emphasising the importance of adaptability, confidence, and taking ownership of their career journeys. The session wrapped up with a lively Q&A, where the 89 LEAD students in attendance gained practical tips on staying prepared and relevant as Singapore's workforce continues to evolve.

Ministerial Dialogue by Mr Chan Chun Seng (14/11/25)

24 LEAD students took part in a Ministerial Dialogue with Minister Chan Chun Sing at SIT this month, where they engaged in a live Q&A session and gained valuable insights directly from the Minister. Minister Chan shared fresh perspectives on key issues affecting youths today, sparking thoughtful discussions and meaningful takeaways for the students.

"If you're not at the table, you're on the menu"

Singapore's limited resources make us vulnerable in the global landscape. This quote reminds us that we must keep learning and improving to stay prepared and relevant, or risk being outpaced and overshadowed by stronger nations.

Foreign Policy Engagement Session (FPES) with Ambassador Robert Chua (18/11/25)

We welcomed Ambassador Robert Chua, former Ambassador to Myanmar, who drew on more than three decades of diplomatic experience to share insights into Singapore's foreign policy fundamentals. The 70 LEAD students in attendance gained a better understanding of how Singapore navigates a complex global landscape, including the strategic partnerships and diplomatic balancing that help a small nation remain relevant and secure among major powers.

LEAD Unconference 2025: UNscripted (01/12/25)

25 LEAD students came together for LEAD Unconference 2025: UNscripted, a student-led space to explore topics like education, sustainability, mental health, and social impact. Students led discussions, shared ideas freely, and sparked initiatives for real change.

Feedback was overwhelmingly positive, with many appreciating the safe, authentic space for open conversations. More Unconference sessions are coming!
